

Introvert: Teenager Simulator

Hello, Faris here!

Script is underneath all this

Welcome to my small audition! The game isn't that big and so is the script. It's a free game in the end, you know?

Keep in mind this isn't the final script but the style of talking is going to be the same in the final script. I am trying to achieve a chaotic random universe where there's dank Gen-z humor everywhere but also staying close to how kids would interact with each other in 2021. Just giving a heads up before we start anything serious :)

Let me know if you need any clarifications on anything as I don't know how to write script :(
